FOREWORD

I HAVE had the pleasure of working on two occasions (in January 1940 and in 1943-44) with members of the Ga Society and others on some problems that had arisen in the spelling of Ga. Dissatisfaction was felt with the application of the new 'Africa' script in certain particulars, and inconsistencies in the spelling of the language had been revealed, which it was advisable to clarify and straighten out. This uncertainty of spelling inevitably has held up the publication of books, as both authors and publishers were loath to embark on the production of material that might be discarded in a short time.

I feel sure that these impediments to the development and publication of Ga books are now removed and there should be no further need for controversy. The decisions of the 1940 and 1943-44 conferences have been embodied in the spelling rules that form the introduction to this book.

It remains for Ga writers to go ahead and produce literature. When the plans for mass education and general literacy are put into action, writers will have the needs of a growing literate population to satisfy. They have before them a marvellous opportunity and I wish them good luck in their endeavour.

I cannot end this short preface without a tribute to the late Mr. V. A. Tettey, M.B.E., Deputy Director of Education, whom I met in England and in the Gold Coast in 1940. It is to his inspiration and activity that the satisfactory solution of these problems is primarily due.

IDA C. WARD

Gold Coast,
May 1944.

THE GA SYMBOLS

1. The printed symbols of the New Script as used in Ga are thirty-four. These are represented as follows:—

CAPITAL	SMALL	CAPITAL	SMALL
A Ã	a ã	N	n
B	b	NY	ny
D	d	Ŋ	ŋ
DZ	dz	O	o
(formerly DƷ)	(formerly dʒ)	Ɔ Ɔ̃	ɔ ɔ̃
DZW	dzw	P	p
(formerly DƷW)	(formerly dʒw)	R	r
E	e	S	s
Ɛ Ɛ̃	ɛ ɛ̃	Σ	ʃ
F	f	ΣW	ʃw
G	g	T	t
GB	gb	TΣ	tʃ
H	h	TΣW	tʃw
I Ĩ	i ĩ	U Ũ	u ũ
K	k	V	v
KP	kp	W	w
L	l	Y	y
M	m	Z	z

2. Notes on the symbols 'e,' 'o,' 'w' and 'dz.'

(a) Nasalisation of 'ɛ' instead of 'e,' and 'ɔ' instead of 'o.'

Apart from 'ã,' 'ĩ' and 'ũ,' the only other nasalised sounds made by native speakers of Ga are appropriately represented by 'ɛ̃' and 'ɔ̃.' It is to be noted, therefore, that 'e' and 'o' never occur in nasalised form.

(b) 'w' and 'w̃.'

The separate symbol used to represent the first sound in 'wiri' is now abolished, and the symbol 'w̃' is to be used for both the first sound in 'wɔ' and the first sound in 'wiri.' The following words contain the first sound heard in 'wiri': were, (a)werɛho, wie, wɛ, wi, etc.

(For others see Word List)

(c) 'ɑz' and 'dzw'.

The sound represented by the symbol 'ʒ' does not exist in Ga. Therefore this symbol is now replaced by 'z' wherever the digraph 'dz' is used. Thus 'a dance is now written as 'dzoo' in Ga, not 'dʒoo' as hitherto. Similarly, we now have 'dzɛi' and 'dzwɛi,' which formerly were written as 'dʒɛi' and 'dʒwɛi.'

THE JOINING OF WORDS

As usual, the nominative pronoun is joined to its verb.
e.g. mifee, eba, wəŋma, amɛkɛɛ, etc.

The possessive pronoun is joined to its noun.
e.g. miwolo, oyitʃo, oyiteŋ, wətʃu, etc.

The objective pronoun is kept separate.
e.g. mibayi o, etʃwa lɛ nii, wəkɛɛ amɛ nakai nəŋŋ, etc.

THE RULES OF SPELLING

1. The Long Vowel Sound.

Significant length of vowel in Ga is now expressed in writing by doubling the vowel letter.

e.g.	daa	always	bii	children
	hee	new	loo	fish
	kɛɛ	say	nuu	man

But the vowel letter is not doubled in writing the following:—

(a) Reduplicated Verbs.

e.g.	amɛyeye nii	they ate
	amɛtata amɛdɛ	they shook hands

(b) Adverbs ending in 'ŋ,' which for the sake of consistency should be written with a short vowel and 'ŋŋ.'

e.g.	dəŋŋ	fləŋŋ
	faŋŋ	heŋŋ

(For others see Word List, but note 'moŋ' rather, in Word List)

(c) When a noun forms its plural by adding 'i' to the singular which itself ends in a long vowel, one of the vowels is dropped before the 'i' is added.

e.g.	faa	river	fai	rivers
	(but fai	hat	faii	hats)
	amadaa		amadai
	maaŋoo		maaŋoi
	wolo hee		wodzi hei
	etc.		etc.

(d) When a verb forms its habitual by adding 'ɔ' to the stem which itself ends in a long vowel, one of the vowels is dropped before the 'ɔ' is added.

e.g.	bɛɛ	sweep	bɛɔ	(habitual form)
	fee	do	feɔ
	hoo	cook	hoɔ
	kɛɛ	say	kɛɔ

(e) Certain names of persons, towns and places.

Ada	not	Adaa	(Ada)
Akusɛ	,,	Akusɛɛ	(Akuse)
Amɛle	,,	Amɛɛle
Kote	,,	Koote
Kwami	,,	Kwaami
La	,,	Laa	(Labadi)
Somanɔ	,,	Soomanɔ	(Somanya)

(For others see Word List)

2. Verbs which make use of the Long Vowel Sound.

Following the rule of the Long Vowel Sound certain verb forms such as:—

{the Negative Present, and {the Habitual Form, and

{the Progressive Form, and {the Future with a long vowel pronoun, would seem to be identical. To distinguish one from the other the following procedure has been adopted:—

(a) The Negative Present. To distinguish this from other long sounds of verbs, a high tone mark (′) should be written on the first of the two final identical vowels of negatives.

e.g.	Negative Present	Habitual Form
	eláa he does not sing	elaa he sings enáa he does not see	enaa he sees eyáa he does not go	eyaa he goes ekɔ́ɔ he does not take	ekɔɔ he takes emɔ́ɔ he does not catch	emɔɔ he catches

The same rule applies to all cases of the negative present, even though the habitual form is different.

e.g.	efée he does not do	efeɔ he does ehaóo he does not worry	ehaoɔ he worries
	ehiéɛ he does not hold	ehiɛɔ he holds ekéɛ he does not say	ekɛɔ he says
	etaóo he does not desire	etaoɔ he desires

(b) The form of the future making use of the long vowel as pronoun should be indicated by a high tone mark (′) on the second of the vowels to distinguish it from the present progressive.

e.g.	Future	Present Progressive
	eéla he will sing	eela he is singing eéna he will see	eena he is seeing eéya he will go	eeya he is going

3. Marking of Nasalised Vowels.

In spite of the fact that nasal sounds are to a large extent characteristic of Ga speech, the nasal sign should be used in writing only where it is absolutely necessary.

It should not be used:—

(a) in words which are distinctive and could not be mistaken.
e.g. boka, edzurɔfeemɔ, gugɔ, gbekɛbii, gbomɔ, ŋwɛibɔfo, etc.

(b) in words which have no corresponding non-nasal form.

e.g.	adɔdɔŋ	fly	gbi	day
	adudzi	monkeys	hefɛɛhe	everywhere
	amale	untruth	ma	lend
	anɔkwale	truth	mɔfɛɛmɔ	everybody

(c) where 'h' is followed by 'i' or 'u,' for in such cases the vowel is almost invariably nasal.

e.g.	hi	be good	hiɛ	face
	hia	be necessary	hù	also

But the nasal sign will have to be used where there are two words with the same spelling, one with a nasal vowel and one with a non-nasal, which might be easily confused.

e.g.	ʃia	sand	ʃĩa	house
	fa	enough	fã	half
	ŋʃɔnaaʃia	sand of the sea shore	ŋʃɔnaaʃĩa	house by the sea shore

(For others see Word List)

[The above notes are of course based on page 10 of "The New Script and its Relation to Languages of the Gold Coast."]

Where long vowels (double letters) or diphthongs have to be nasalised, the nasal sign is put on the first of the two vowels nasalised.

e.g. fɛ̃ɛ, mɔ̃ɔ (castle), tɔ̃ɔ.

(For others see Word List)

4. A Nasal Consonant before another Consonant.

The usual habit of assimilation in articulation between the consonants does not always hold in Ga, except perhaps in very rapid speech. The question of the writing of a nasal consonant before another consonant resolves itself into the use of 'n' or 'ŋ, and 'm' or 'ŋ' in certain words. The following facts should be borne in mind:—

A syllabic nasal consonant at the beginning of a word is apparently always 'ŋ' and should be so written.

e.g. ŋta, ŋʃɔ, ŋsra, ŋtʃuma.

Before 'k' or 'g,' it is 'ŋ' in any position in the word.
e.g. ŋkatiɛ, saŋku.

Before lip consonants, the nasal consonant is either 'm' or 'ŋ,' before alveolar consonants, 'n' or 'ŋ.'
e.g. duŋbi, samflɛ, maŋtʃɛ, nuntʃɔ.

Where a word can be divided into two parts, the first of which ends in 'ŋ,' as in 'maŋ-tʃɛ' and 'duŋ-bi,' the 'ŋ' is retained in pronunciation and spelling. In a word like 'nuntʃɔ,' no such division can be made. The nasal, therefore, assimilates to 'tʃ' and is 'n.'

It should be noted that in the case of nouns and adjectives which form the plural by adding 'dzi,' the 'ŋ' is not retained in pronunciation and should not be written.
e.g. duŋ, dudzi; diŋ, didzi.

5. The Hyphen in Ga.

The omission of the hyphen is recommended, except in the following instances:—

(i) at the end of a line to show that part of a word is carried to the next line.

(ii) to remove a possible ambiguity in the writing of numerals.
e.g. akpei-nyɔŋma-kɛ-enyɔ (12,000)
but akpei-nyɔŋma kɛ enyɔ (10,002)

No rigid rule can be laid down as to whether a compound should be written as one word or as two. Generally speaking the following principles are useful to work on:—

(i) If the two elements form together a compound with a single idea, they can be written together.

(ii) If the two elements are still felt as separate entities, they can be written separately.

The following may conveniently be written as one word:—

(i) A verbal noun compounded with 'nɔ' a thing, or 'nii' things. e.g. kaimɔnɔ, etc.

(ii) Nouns made up of a transitive verb and its objects.
e.g. ŋtʃɔidɔɔmɔ, etc.

(iii) Verbs combined with 'kɛ.'
e.g. kɛba, kɛya, etc.

(iv) Double verbs with 'ba' or 'ya.'
e.g. bafee, batee, yakɔ, yaba, etc.
(For others see Word List)
